TROUBLESHOOTING:

PROBLEM	EXPLANATION	SOLUTION
Does the steam iron leak steam mixed with water?	1) While filling the tank you may have poured too much water into the tank.  2) The iron plate has to be hot enough to produce dry steam.	<ol> <li>The problem will go on until the excess water is emptied. Keep the steam button depressed until the water in the tank is at the correct level.</li> <li>Please check that the temperature knob is on the right position: "cotton"</li> </ol>
There is no steam coming out of the iron?	1) The steam knob (where supplied) might be closed. 2) The iron switch might be off. 3) The boiler switch might be off. 4) The water might be used up.	1) Open the steam knob anticlockwise. 2) After the iron switch comes on, wait for 4 minutes so that the iron plate gets hot. 3) After the boiler switch comes on, wait for 10-20 minutes so the boiler produces steam. 4) Fill it following the instructions carefully.
Does the steam leak dirty water?	Some dirty water might have gone into the boiler with the water and it is given off from the iron.	Fill the empty tank with water (i300/i500), screw the cap tight, shake it, unscrew the cap and empty the tank. Repeat the action until the water is cleaned. We do not recommend the use of any additive to pour in the tank. Before ironing again spray some steam on a cloth until clean steam comes out.
How to clean the boilers i700-i702		Clean the boiler frequently by opening the exhaust valve but only when the boiler has been disconnected from the electrical outlet – let pressure go down first.
How to clean the boiler i300-i500		The use of normal tap water is recommended. In order to clean the boiler and remove limestone, rinse it internally (every 15-20 litres of water used or every month) with tap water.
